I'm hurting more than anybody could possibly know baby all I can say is I'm relieved your no longer suffering. I remember when we met back in 2016 it was over fb lol I added u and u messaged me. When we first met basically it was love at first sight. The way I felt about u is hard to explain just such a strong love and I was so in love with u and I still am as I'm typing this. When I first found out I was pregnant i was only 19 I know I should've been upset but in all honestly I was so happy and so were u. I remember the huge smile on your face when we found out it was positive. Then two years later we had another baby boy and the crazy thing is he looks just like u. Every time I see Ethen I see u 100% they are our last connection to u and God I am so grateful for that sm babe. Idc how many times we argued I could never stop loving u. Once your in love with someone it just doesn't go away. I know I said things I shouldn't have but it was always out of anger. The things I would do to just have u back on this earth with me just for even one more day... anyways I love u sm snuggle bunny just thought I'd let u know and rest easy. Til we meet again in Heaven ❤️❤️❤️❤️❤️
